🛡️ Opt-Out Guide (People Search / Data Broker Sites)

A visual, step-by-step guide to remove your info from common people-search sites.

🚀 Quick Start

1. Find your profile on the site (search your name + city/state).
2. Copy the exact profile URL.
3. Use the site's opt-out page and submit removal.
4. Confirm via email/phone if required.
5. Re-check in 24–72 hours and repeat if multiple listings appear.

✅ Before You Begin (Checklist)

- Use a fresh browser tab (incognito/private helps).
- Have your email ready (some sites require confirmation).
- Keep a notes file with: site + profile URL + date submitted.
- If you're listed multiple times, you usually must remove each listing separately.

🧰 Pro Tips

- 🧠 Search smarter: try `"First Last" + city` and also just phone number.
- 🧹 Clear cookies or use private mode if the site loops or blocks.
- 🔁 Set a reminder to re-check in 7–14 days (some sites republish).
- 📸 Screenshot confirmations for your records.

📋 Additional Sites (151 sites)

The following additional data broker and people-search sites also host personal information. Each entry includes the opt-out/removal link (where available), the method required, and brief notes. Sites are listed alphabetically.

> Strategy tip: Start with the highest-impact sites first — Acxiom, Infotracer, LexisNexis, and Data Axle feed data to many smaller sites. Removing from these upstream sources first, then waiting about a week, can cause your info to disappear from dozens of downstream sites automatically.

🛰️ Additional Sites: Data Brokers, B2B Lead Providers, Ad-Tech & Marketing (257 sites)

The following sites are primarily data brokers, B2B sales intelligence platforms, ad-tech companies, and marketing data vendors that collect and sell personal or professional information. These are less commonly known than people-search sites but are significant sources of data exposure. Most opt-outs involve visiting the company's website, scrolling to the footer, and clicking a "Do Not Sell My Personal Information" or "Privacy" link to access an online form.

> General method for most sites below: Go to the company's website → scroll to the footer → click "Do Not Sell My Personal Information" (or "Privacy Choices" / "Opt Out") → complete the online form → confirm via email if required.
